From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The International Islamic University Malaysia

(Arabic: الجامعة الإسلامية العالمية بماليزيا; Malay: Universiti Islam Antarabangsa Malaysia), also known as IIUM or UIAM, is one of the Public Institutions of Higher Education (<http://www.mohe.gov.my/portal/en/institusi/ipta.html>) (PIHE) in Malaysia. Its main campus is located in Gombak, Selangor with its Centre for Foundation Studies (<http://www.iium.edu.my/cfs/>) situated in Petaling Jaya and Gombang, Pahang and its medical-centric branch in Kuantan, Pahang. The university is sponsored by eight governments from the Organisation of the Islamic Conference (OIC). It is distinct from the International Islamic University Islamabad, Pakistan and International Islamic University in Dhaka, Bangladesh.

The university was established in 23 May 1983, founded on Islamic principles.^[1] Islamic values are inculcated into all disciplines. The university offers bachelor, master's degree and PhD courses at its 13 faculties, also known as kulliyyah.

Since 1987, there have been 60,785 graduates and postgraduates who have successfully completed their studies at the IIUM. Out of this, 53,241 were from Malaysia while 7,530 were International students.^[6]

History

The idea of an international Islamic education institution was conceived in 1982 by Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad^{[7][8]} during a meeting between OIC leaders to establish an international institution for tertiary education based on Islamic principles, known as the Islamization of knowledge. It was then shared with the then Minister of Education, Dr. Sulaiman Daud; the Director-General of Education, Murad Mohd. Nor and two other persons. Dr. Mohd. Kamal Hassan, then of the National University of Malaysia, a senior academic official who attended the meeting, produced the first working paper on the concept of the university.^[7]

IIUM was officially established on 23 May 1983, by virtue of Section 5A (2) of the Universities and University Colleges Act 1971, when the University received its Establishment Order from His Majesty the King, Sultan Ahmad Shah of Pahang, who then had been appointed as its first Constitutional Head on 1 July 1983, after an exchange of Diplomatic Notes of co-sponsorship between the Government of Malaysia and a number of Muslim Governments as well as the OIC. ^[7]

The university's language of instruction was to be English and Arabic, and many of its students would come from overseas. As Malaysian law did not allow for this, IIUM was incorporated under the Companies Act of 1965. Thus it became the first international university and the first university in Malaysia to use English as the medium of instruction and administration.

It was officially opened at Petaling Jaya, with Hussein Onn elected as the first President. The university operates under the direction of the Board of Governors, which comprises representatives of the OIC as well as eight sponsoring governments, namely; Malaysia, Bangladesh, Egypt, Libya, Maldives, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia and Turkey.^[7] The Constitutional Head, President and Rector of this international university are all Malaysians.

A batch of 153 students from Malaysia and abroad were enrolled for the first academic session, which started on 8 July 1983. Courses were conducted under the Faculty of Economics, the Faculty of Laws, the Center for Fundamental Knowledge (CFK) and the Center for Languages (CFL). These first batch received their degrees and diplomas during the First Convocation held on 10 October 1987. 68 graduates were conferred Bachelor of Economics (B.Econ/BECS) degrees, 56 Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degrees, and 29 Qadhis were conferred Diploma in Law and Administration of Islamic Judiciary.

In 2008, IIUM celebrated its 25th anniversary and it has developed into one of the most prominent universities in Malaysia and the region with strong affiliation in the academic world.

Governance

As a public university, IIUM is ruled ceremonially by the Constitutional Head who preside convocations and has been the point of reference for all constitutional issues. Equivalent to the Chancellor in other public universities, he is appointed by the King on the recommendation of the Federal Government for 7-years term. To date, Sultan Ahmad Shah of Pahang is the current and founding Constitutional Head, which he hold the position for the 5th term.

Administratively, IIUM is steered by 3 main bodies. The Board of Governors, the highest body of the University, holds the overall responsibility for the businesses of the University, including properties, revenue and policies. The Council (Majlis) manages international matters and issues; while the Senate, the general assembly for academic administrators and professors, is in-charge of academic matters.

Both the Board of Governors and the Council presided by the President. He is assisted by the Rector who chairs the Senate. Both the President, as the Chairman, and the Rector, as the Chief Executive Officer, are appointed by the Constitutional Head for 5-years and 3-years term respectively. To date, Advisor of the Government for Social and Cultural Affairs Dr. Rais Yatim is the President, while Professor Dr. Zaleha Kamaruddin from Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws is the Rector.

Campus

The university has moved to a 700 acre (2.8 km²) campus at Gombak, Selangor. The original campus in Petaling Jaya has been converted to a matriculation centre and is now known as Centre For Foundation Studies (CFS) for all foundation students, except for Foundation in Economics students in Gombak Campus and Foundation in Medicine, Pharmacy and Dentistry in Gambang Campus, Pahang. Apart from these two campuses, IIUM has another two campuses—the Kuala Lumpur Campus at Persiaran Duta, Kuala Lumpur^[9] and Kuantan Campus, about 250 km to the east in the state of Pahang. On September 2010, IIUM reported to open new campus in Pagoh, Johor^[10] and another in Gambang, Pahang.

Main campus

IIUM has 13 faculties, called "Kulliyah" from the Arabic word meaning the same and the college. Two of the faculties are the Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws (AIKOL) and the Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences (KIRKHS). Other courses offered include Engineering, Dentistry, Nursing, Allied Health Sciences, Architecture, Information Technology, Biomedical Science, Biotechnology, Economics and Management Sciences. The engineering disciplines offered at IIUM are Communications Engineering, Computer & Information Engineering, Mechatronics Engineering, Aerospace Engineering, Automotive Engineering, Manufacturing Engineering, Biochemical-Biotechnology Engineering, and Materials Engineering.

The faculties (kulliyah) of IIUM are:

- Gombak
 - Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws (AIKOL (<http://www.iium.edu.my/aikol/>))
 - Kulliyah of Islamic Revealed Knowledge and Human Sciences (KIRKHS (<http://www.iium.edu.my/irkhs/>))

There are 12 'excellence centres'. Among the notable centres include the IIUM Breast Centre, located in the Kuantan campus and devoted to the research and diagnosis of breast cancer, the number one killer of women in Malaysia.

The Cultural Activity Centre (CAC) is the university's biggest centre, used as a venue for the annual convocation ceremony. The centre can be converted to an examination venue. Cultural performances, talks and seminars have been held at the centre; a notable use was for the 2003 Asia Pacific Indigenous Plays Festival which featured cultural performances from Malaysia, Thailand, the Philippines, Cambodia, Japan, and the United States of America.

Facilities

In 2008, IIUM has deployed a wireless network infrastructure throughout its Gombak and Kuantan campuses. This infrastructure provides wireless coverage across both campuses. It delivers connectivity to roaming users, supports standard Wi-Fi clients, and delivers high-speed data, and streaming video applications.^[15]

IIUM has an extensive law library and research centre. It produces top-class university debaters; the university was placed seventh in the world varsity rankings in 2003.

Sultan Haji Ahmad Shah Mosque

The Sultan Haji Ahmad Shah Mosque lies in the centre of the main campus grounds, interconnected to the rest of the administrative and academic buildings. This is symbolic of the Muslim belief that religious and worldly education are indivisible and inseparable from each other.

Academics

Students

IIUM started with 153 students in 1983. Today approximately 3,000 students enroll each year. As of 2005, there were approximately 20,000 students from over 40 Muslim majority countries studying in IIUM, as well as students from non-Muslim majority countries (such as Germany, China, South Korea, Japan, India, United States of America, Kashmir, Russia, Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Burma, Vietnam, Sri Lanka and the Philippines).

The ratio of female-to-male students is 3:1.

Since 1987, there have been 60,785 graduates and postgraduates who have successfully completed their studies at the IIUM. Out of this, 53,241 were from Malaysia while 7,530 were International students.^[6]

Having graduates all over the world, IIUM has established alumni chapters in Thailand, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Indonesia, Maldives, Australia, Saudi Arabia, Oman and Singapore. Branches of alumni chapters have also been opened in Turkey, China, Nigeria, the Philippines, Yemen, Brunei, Senegal, South Africa, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Gambia, Republic of Guinea and the United Arab Emirates.

Medium

The medium of instruction is English, with Arabic used in courses related to the study of Islamic sciences like theology, jurisprudence and ethics. Basic Arabic is a compulsory course. In addition, basic Bahasa Melayu is compulsory for under-graduate students.

Awards and recognition

IIUM has participated in international competitions in the field of debate, public speaking and mootng. In 2004 Irma Nur Zahrah Bt. Junian from IIUM won the Public Speaking Competition of World University Debating Championship (WUDC).^[16] In 2007, IIUM won the WUDC title for English as a second language.^[17] In 2008 world ranking of World Debate website, IIUM had the 14th place among the top universities of the world.^[18] IIUM again shines in international debating competition when Ameera Natasha Moore, a third year Ahmad Ibrahim Kulliyah of Laws student was named as the best speaker in The Norton Rose Fulbright Cambridge University Women's Debate Open competition. She and her team mate, Sara Rahim outranked debaters from prominent universities such as Oxford University, Berlin University and Tel Aviv University among others.^[19]

The IIUM Debating Team does the University and the nation proud again when the team is ranked at number 10 out of 440 teams in the 35th World Universities Debating Championship (WUDC) hosted by University Teknologi Mara (UiTM) from 27th December 2014 until 4th January 2015. The team consisted of final year law-student Syed Saddiq Syed Abdul Rahman and third-year economics student Mubarrat Wassey.^[20]

Bridge on the IIUM River

In the field of research, students of IIUM have received recognition at regional and international level by winning gold, silver and bronze medals at exhibitions and expos, including PENCIPTA, INPEX, ITEX, Geneva and KIPA.^[21] IIUM entered the inaugural Proton Green Mobility Challenge 2012 (PGMC) when the University's entry, an electric powered Proton Saga BLM named "Smart Mobility" became the overall champion and also took "Farthest Distance" and "Fastest Two Laps Challenge" award.^[22]

IIUM also involved in the creation of the Malaysian Shariah Index with collaboration from JAKIM and YADIM which Malaysia will be the first country in the world to adopt it.^[23] The index will measure the compliance of eight fields — judiciary, politics, economics, health, education, culture, infrastructure and environment, and social — with “maqasid syariah”, or the intentions of Shariah. The Malaysian Shariah Index was officially launched by the Prime Minister of Malaysia on 10th February 2015.^[24]
